RETURNING TO THE SELF IN SANDPLAY

Sandplay therapy provides an experience of the Self through embodied, symbolic play and witnessing. The 2012 STA National Conference offers an immersion in a theoretical and experiential exploration of the Self as expressed in the sandplay process with children and adults. Dora Kalff, founder of sandplay therapy, agreed with C.G. Jung that the Self is the center of psychic totality. Sandplay therapy offers an opportunity for healing and integration for people whose lives and psyches are disconnected from their core selves. In this conference, you will hear and see how this multimodal therapy draws on body, mind and spirit, in the context of the safe container of the therapeutic relationship, to help adults and children move forward in their lives.

The theme of Returning to the Self invites an in-depth consideration of important therapeutic questions. How do we help others to return to wholeness, safety, discovery and spirit? What are ways we facilitate or disrupt a relationship to Self with our clients? How do Jungian concepts illuminate the self-healing process and enhance our understanding? How do we cultivate our presence to witness the rhythm and flow of the unconscious and the body in Sandplay? Can we hold a free and protected space for our clients even when we may be wounded or distressed ourselves?

Our conference is designed to balance presentations and sandplay community events with time for personal self-reflection and integration. In sandplay therapy, we return to and connect with the essence of the Self.

SANDPLAY THERAPY DEFINED

_Sandplay™_ as developed by Dora M. Kalff is a nonverbal therapeutic process based on the psychology of C.G. Jung. Sandplay also has roots in the World Technique of Margaret Lowenfeld and Tibetan Buddhism. The path to individuation, as understood in Jungian psychology, becomes visible in the symbolic expression of the sandplay. In sandplay, through the free and protected space, the individual is able to penetrate the depths of the personality and experience the Self. From this ground, a more naturally balanced relationship between the ego and Self manifests. When this occurs one then has the opportunity to live life in a more conscious, authentic manner.
ABOUT SANDPLAY THERAPISTS OF AMERICA™

Sandplay Therapists of America is a non-profit organization established to promote education, training and research in sandplay therapy. STA is an affiliate member of the International Society of Sandplay Therapy, which promotes professional development in sandplay in the tradition of Dora Kalff based on the theories of C.G. Jung. STA sponsors a national conference alternating yearly with a national assembly. Sandplay Therapists of America publishes The Journal of Sandplay Therapy™, offers courses at the Sandplay Therapy Institute and supports regional groups and trainings throughout the US. As a growing organization, STA encourages members to contribute to the field of sandplay therapy, volunteer and actively mentor those who train to become Practitioners, Certified and Teaching members. To learn more about Sandplay Therapists of America, visit our website at www.sandplay.org.

Conference Objectives

1. Explain how sandplay therapy provides an opportunity to contain the process of change within the therapeutic milieu.

2. Give examples of how sandplay therapy expands our understanding of archetype and ego, neuroscience and mindfulness, mind and body.

3. Give examples of creative motifs within sandplay, which show the process of healing and transformation.

4. Describe and demonstrate a variety of sandplay therapy interventions targeted at individual, family, and clinician-client relational factors central to improving the client’s emotional functioning during sandplay and play therapy sessions.

5. Identify sandplay therapy techniques that enhance the relationship between client and therapist.

Other Conference Features

Pre-Conference Meeting

WEDNESDAY, MAY 30
• 1:00pm-9:00pm   STA Board of Trustees Meeting

Pre-Conference Workshops

THURSDAY, MAY 31

• 8:30am- 4:30pm   FULL DAY WORKSHOPS with breaks and lunch

1. Fundamentals of Sandplay Therapy
   Lucia Chambers, MFT, CST-T
   This introductory class will present an overview of the history of sandplay, provide definition of terms, introduce basic concepts of Jungian theory, and discuss the “free and protected space” in relation to the sandplay process. Initial trays will be shown as well as a complete case. Practical aspects of the clinical hour in sandplay will be discussed.

2. In Touch Again: The Attachment Therapy of Agnes Bayley and Its Relationship to Sandplay
   Ellen Saul, MS, LP, CST-T and Nancy Hawkins, PsyD, LP
   This workshop introduces “In Touch Again,” the principles and therapy process developed by Dr. Agnes “Nessie” Bayley, to help children and adults repair attachment wounds. Participants will experience some of her interventions, grounding their understanding of her work in their own bodies and minds, as they gain an understanding of the process.

3. Sandplay Therapy and Trauma-Informed Practice
   Lorraine Razzi Freedle, PhD, CST
   Trauma penetrates the core of identity and hijacks brain functioning. Healing from trauma involves returning to the Self, reprocessing trauma, and developing the brain’s capacity for self-regulation. This workshop will explore sandplay as a trauma-informed practice, its neuropsychology, and the specific conditions of sandplay that bring forth change.
4. Images of the Self: Play Across the Landscape of Life
   Level: ALL
   Lynne Ehlers, PhD, CST
   The ego’s relationship to the Self will be amplified through a slide presentation. The presenter will discuss three individuals’ direct, life-changing experiences with the Self; the dangers and blessings of such encounters; and revel in the beauty of over 100 images of the Self in nature and the personal and collective unconscious, manifested through religion and the arts.

5. The Queen’s Cloak: Weaving the Story of Women’s Journey at Midlife through Sandplay and Artplay.
   Level: ALL
   Roz Heiko, PhD, CST-T, & Georgia Mann, BFA
   Using Georgia’s ceramics, case material, and artplay, we re-tell the story of the Queen’s Cloak. This is an experiential presentation using storytelling, interactive discussion, visual art, and sandplay case material. It will include an art project related to the story/journey through art play: “weaving” a symbolic cloak with different materials. Therapists of all levels can benefit from engaging in dialogue and nonverbal artplay about issues their women clients face at midlife and how to use their resources as they negotiate this middle period in their lives.
THURSDAY EVENING, MAY 31

• 7:30pm  CONFERENCE OPENING CEREMONY AND KEYNOTE PRESENTATION, WITH DESSERT RECEPTION

Home To The Wilderness: Sensing, Becoming, Experiencing Soul in Sandplay Therapy
    Judy Zappacosta, MFT, CST-T  Level: ALL
Sandplay, dreams, and the body are exquisite containers for our inner psychic world. Wilderness is a powerful mirror for unknown, unearthed and unexplored territories of the soul. Inner and outer landscapes of wilderness will offer the frame from which a deeper sense of presence and embodied consciousness can be understood.

FRIDAY, JUNE 1

• 7:00-8:00am  Meditation and Movement with Jill Kaplan
• 8:30-9:00am  Registration: Lobby
• 8:30-9:00am  Refreshments

• 9:00-10:30am  KEYNOTE
    Want to Play? A Dialogue Exploring the Self and Sandplay with Children and Adults  Level: ALL
    Lauren Cunningham, LCSW, JA, CST-T & Daniel Nelson, OFM, PhD, CST-T
Daniel and Lauren will exchange ideas on therapeutic work and images of the Self expressed by children and the “child within” of the adults who come to the sand. Presenters will engage with one another and the group in a dynamic dialogue about experiences of engagement of the Self in sandplay.

• 10:30-11:00am  BREAK/Refreshments
• 11:00am-12:30pm  MORNING WORKSHOPS

1. “Assisted Sandplay”: Bridging the Pathway for Sandplay with the Physically Handicapped
   David Dermott, PsyD, CST-T
   Level:  All
   This presentation will focus on the use of a special-needs adaptation that helps to bring the full benefits of sandplay therapy to physically handicapped clients. Through live demonstration, case-study and sandtray photos, the presenter will illustrate the use of this intuitive and practical method with three physically disabled individuals (arthritis, stroke, cerebral palsy) as they returned to wholeness.

2. King of the Bloodfire: An Alchemical View of the Self in the Sandplay Healing of a Bully
   Laurel Howe, MA, CST, Diplomate Analyst
   Level:  All
   This presentation tracks the transformation of a six-year-old bully into a well-adapted first-grader. His violent attitude comes forward in sandplay as alchemical fire and war. Out of the destruction, the Self emerges as a resurrected “king,” symbolizing a consciousness no longer driven by violence.

3. The Difference Between Sandplay and Sandtray
   Debbie Mego, PhD, LCSW, CST & Sachiko Taki-Reece, EdD, MFT, JA, CST-T
   Level:  All
   This presentation includes a didactic section comparing and contrasting theory and practice of sandplay vs. sandtray, case vignettes, and experiential exercises designed to provide first-hand experience of both approaches. Participants will have the opportunity to discuss thoughts and feelings elicited during the presentation, as well as directions for further research.

4. An Essential of Sandplay: Therapist as Witness
   Liza Ravitz, PhD, JA, CST-T
   Level:  All
   The essential role of the Witnessing sandplay therapist is the holding of and attuning to the multidimensional space in which patient and therapist interact. As the sandplay process evolves, the sandplay therapist psychically follows her patient moving back and forth throughout these different dimensions. Three of these dimensions: the Sacred-Archetypal space; the Infant-Mother space; and the Transference-Countertransference space will be discussed through images and case material.
5. In Sandplay, Joy Finds her Self and her Connection to the World
   Carol Wells, LCSW, SP
   Level: All
Abandoned, neglected and abused, 8-year-old Joy began therapy in a dissociated state. Donald Kalsched describes how daimonic, archetypal, self-care systems can emerge from severe early trauma. Through Kalshed’s lens, we will explore Joy’s courageous work of releasing her imprisoned personal spirit and becoming connected with the world.

6. Case Consultation
   (Requires completion of personal sandplay process)
   Level: All
   Limited to 10 participants
   (STA/ISST credits, no CEs)

- 12:30-2:30pm
  LUNCH on your own or
  INTERNATIONAL SANDPLAY FORUM 12:30- 2:00 pm.
  We invite everyone who is curious to learn about innovative use of sandplay in various cultures and settings. Panelists include Sachiko Taki-Reece, EdD, MFT, JA, CST-T, describing sandplay with survivors of the tsunami in Japan, and Kathy Buys, MFT, who worked in Uganda offering sandplay to adults in classroom and clinical settings. An open discussion with panelists and audience will be moderated by Ellen Searle LeBel, MFT, BC-DMT, SP. Pre-registration required; lunch cost $20. To reserve, please check the lunch fee in your registration.

- 2:30-5:45pm
  AFTERNOON 3-HOUR WORKSHOPS with 15 minute break

1. Dark Night of the Soul and Dark Radiance
   Level: All
   Maria Chiaia, PhD, JA, CST-T & Diane Deutsch, PhD, JA
Chaos and suffering that arise in the darkness have a light, a meaning and a dark radiance that may shine if held in a deep analytic relationship. Clinical stories and sandplay images will illustrate the dark night of the soul and the illumination that emerges like stars in the night sky.
2. The Understanding and Use of Metaphorical Language in Sandplay Therapy and Play Therapy Level: All

Patricia Dunn-Fierstein, LCSW, CST-T
In this session participants will be taught the importance of attuning to metaphorical language in sessions, how to understand what it means, and how to respond to that language without breaking the temenos. The session will include a brief lecture followed by an interactive section where participants will dive into powerful client therapy images and words, and practice identifying the underlying meaning, and possible clinician responses.

3. Sandplay with Attachment-Disordered Children: Releasing the Healing Power of the Self from Entrapment in the Self-Care Archetype Level: All

This presentation uses case material to illustrate the interweaving of a wide range of play and art media with the sandplay process to heal children who have experienced severe neglect and/or abuse in their first six months of life. The healing process is underpinned by understandings from attachment theory and neuroscience and demonstrates the dismantling of the Self-Care archetype to facilitate children forming secure attachments to their substitute permanent caregivers.

• 2:30-4:00pm  AFTERNOON 1.5 HOUR WORKSHOPS

1. Manifestation of the Self in a Sandplay of a 6-year old Girl

Joan Concannon, MFT, JA Level: All
This case of a 6-year old child exemplifies the manifestation of the Self emerging early in therapy. Mandala images appeared in 18 of the first 22 sandtrays over a six-month period. The symbolic meaning of the mandala, the stone, and the unicorn as representations of the Self will be explored.

2. Sandplay, Aging, Self and Dementia

Sandi Peters, MA Level: All
Life can be challenging, yet old age offers the quintessential opportunity to resolve unfinished business. Through slides of sandplay images created by elders with and without dementia, this session shows the power and potential of using sandplay with elders to help them cope with the past and the present.
3. Case Consultation
(Requires completion of personal sandplay process)
Level: All
Limited to 10 participants. (STA/ISST credits, no CEs)

- 4:00-4:30pm BREAK/Refreshments

- 4:30-6:00pm LATE AFTERNOON 1.5 HOUR WORKSHOPS

1. From Severed Parts to Wholeness: Healing the Wounded Self through Sandplay, Co-Transference and Garuda
Level: All
David Capitolo, MFT, CST
In this case presentation, participants will witness a safe holding for a man who connects deeply in the co-transference with the therapist, where the Garuda guardian figure helps reveal his woundedness. In the presence of a loving archetypal father, he returns to his wholeness, prepares for his son’s birth, and discovers the spirit and responsibility of new fatherhood and guardianship.

2. The Many Faces of the Self
Level: All
Harriet Friedman, MFT, JA, CST-T and Rie Rogers Mitchell, PhD, ABPP, CST-T
To Jung, the Self is a combination of opposites, containing both light and darkness simultaneously. Eleanor’s traumatic childhood left her with such primitive rage that unconsciously she was caught in the dark side of the Self. Her sandplay journey allowed her to explore the Self’s both numinous and destructive sides.

3. Open Art Studio sponsored by the Northern California Regional Sandplay Society (NCRSS)

- 6:00pm-8:00pm DINNERS on your own

- 6:30pm MEMBERS WINE & CHEESE RECEPTION

- 7:30pm MEMBERS MEETING
SATURDAY, JUNE 2

• 7:00-8:00am  Tai Chi/Moving Meditation with Parker Linekin

• 7:30-9:00am  MENTORING BREAKFAST
Prospective members and associates at all levels (certified, practitioner, teaching) are invited to meet for a complimentary continental breakfast to discuss membership benefits and requirements with certified teaching members in an informal setting. The Admissions Committee will make a short presentation and answer questions. Pre-registration required. To reserve a space, please check breakfast on your registration.

• 8:30-9:00am  BREAK/Refreshments

• 9:00-10:30am  KEYNOTE
Listening for an Ecological Self
Barbara Holifield, MFT, JA
We are beings of this wild and wonderful world, no less related to rocks and streams than to mother and spouse. This truth long known by indigenous peoples is not widely held in western culture. “All of our relations” need us to attend to them, need our stories and recognition lest they become a vacuous backdrop which we refer to as “The Environment.” Have we become autistic in relation to the natural world? To our own nature? How do we listen as therapists? Can we afford not to? This presentation will explore how psychotherapists might tune our listening perspective to hear the voices that need to be heard if we are to survive with dignity with the land.

• 11:00am-12:30pm  MORNING 1.5 HOUR WORKSHOPS

1. Circles in the Sandplay
Susan Carol Albert, MA
A case study of a 40-year-old woman who had spent over 10 years in a Buddhist retreat in a foreign country and lost all sense of being able to relate to the other. Throughout her process the circle image predominated. The case study draws on the changing image of the circle in the sand, and the transformative effect of the transference relationship between patient and analyst.
2. Relational Energies of the Self: Divine Patterns in Sandplay
   Linda Cunningham, PhD, MFT
   Level: All
   The Self is a container for deeply human patterns of relatedness. We will explore relational qualities of the Self in its structure, images, and flow of energies. We will view slides of sandtrays grouped by each of four relational fields, getting the feel of each field and its qualities of connectedness or disconnection, and learn to facilitate connection.

3. Experiencing the “Unthought Known” in a Sandplay Process
   Antoinette Eimers, PsyD, MFT, SP
   Level: All
   Christopher Bollas first used the term “the unthought known” in 1987; this refers to the boundary between the unconscious and the conscious mind. We will explore a 6-year-old boy’s heroic journey and witness the unthinkable death of his fraternal twin brother. His work symbolically expresses that which is not consciously known. We will see him heal and integrate his disconnected Self through individuation in a sandplay process.

4. The Use of Sandplay with Extremely Traumatized Flood Victims in Taiwan
   Grace Hong, LCP, MFT, CST-T; Pi-Ling Chen, EdM, LCP, & Tsan-Ju Li, MS, LCP
   Level: All
   In this presentation we will share the findings of two sandplay therapists who provided sandplay for flood victims with PTSD. The necessary adaptation of the sandplay method to this unique situation will be shared. Presenters will demonstrate the effectiveness of sandplay for these traumatized children and youth.

5. The Experience of the Self: Differing Relationships with the Mother
   Paola Manzoni, PhD
   Level: All
   We will contrast the cases of two adult women who went through deep analytic processes including sandplay. Each of their family histories was different, in particular in regard to their experience of the Mother. The effect this had on accessing the intuition of the Self will be analyzed in the course of the presentation.

6. Case Consultation
   Level: All
   (Requires completion of a personal sandplay process)
   Limited to 10 participants. (STA/ISST credits, no CEs)
• 12:30-2:30pm  LUNCH on your own or
REGIONAL GROUP LUNCH 12:30-2:00 pm.
STA has been working to support and strengthen regional groups by providing affordable and accessible sandplay training and responding to other requests from regions. This lunch is a continuation of regional meetings at the 2010 Conference and 2011 Assembly. Gather with the Regional Council and other sandplayers from across the country to discuss local needs, training opportunities and resource sharing. Pre-registration required; lunch cost $20. To reserve, please check the lunch fee in your registration.

• 2:30-5:45pm  AFTERNOON 3-HOUR WORKSHOPS with 15 minute break

1. Silence in Sandplay: Creating Therapeutic Space for Sandplay Process
   Jill Kaplan, MA, MFT, CST-T   Level: All
   The therapist’s comfort with silence and unconscious process is critical in supporting an exploration of Self. The role of silence and meditation in sandplay will be demonstrated and experienced in this session. Through practical exercises, including guided meditation and movement, participants will develop their understanding of the role of silence in sandplay therapy.

2. Sandplay with Autistic Children
   Stephen Olmsted, PhD, LP, CST-T, and Dori Pelz-Sherman, PhD
   The use of sandplay with autism will be presented through a review of the literature and case examples. Sandtrays will illustrate how this modality facilitates the movement between integration and de-integration. Sandplay offers a means for finding the Self for these children, and offers snapshots of their progress in attempting wholeness.

3. Deconstruction and Reorganization of the Fractured Self: A Case of Multiple Personality Disorder (DID) Resolved in Sandplay
   Sheila Dickman Zarrow, PhD, JA, CST-T
   The story of a suffering would-be mother, her teenage alternate, and a phantom two and a half-year-old little girl unfolds in the sand. We move through the near kidnapping of a real preschooer, confession, the loss and funeral of the invisible girl, and finally, to the smashing of sandplay items that leads to restoration of the patient’s ego and its healthy relationship with the Self.
SATURDAY, JUNE 2  (continued)

• 2:30-4:00pm  AFTERNOON 1.5-HOUR WORKSHOPS

1. The Evidence Base of Sandplay Therapy
   Gita Morena, PhD, MFT, CST-T
   Level: All
   This panel presentation will provide a platform to discuss the materials and documentation needed to engage in evidence-based sandplay research. Effective research designs, strategies and procedures for collecting and analyzing sandplay data will be included. Participants are encouraged to bring questions and current research projects for presentation and discussion.

   Olivia Heathcote, EdD, MFT, CST-T
   Level: All
   This interactive seminar will provide the participant with the opportunity to identify how a 9-year old Japanese-American twin connected with his core Self through a combination of sandplay and physical activity. We will examine how he found and expressed his creative depths in the sand and how tree climbing complemented his sand process, allowing him to come into his body as a pre-adolescent.

3. Case Consultation
   (Requires completion of a personal sandplay process)
   Level: All
   Limited to 10 participants. STA/ISST credits, no CEs

• 4:00-4:30PM  BREAK/Refreshments
SATURDAY, JUNE 2 (continued)

• 4:30-6:00pm  LATE AFTERNOON 1.5-HOUR WORKSHOPS

1. From Dry Birth and Mutism to Integration and Wholeness through Sandplay
   Tessamarie Capitolo, MFT, CST-T  Level: All
   This workshop will take participants through the process of building a deepening connection within the co-transference, thus facilitating the reworking of the birth trauma of a boy who began therapy as a selectively mute five-year-old. The presenter will demonstrate methods and processes that participants can use in their practices, including affect attunement. The reworking of trauma and transition from the pre-symbolic to symbolic life will be shown in the sandplay process.

2. From Opposition and Disconnect to Self Integration through Parent Participation and Social Emotional Skills Intervention  Level: All
   Janet Tatum, MSW, LICSW, JA, CST-T, and Leslie Fields, MA, LMHC
   This workshop will include the presentation of a long-term case, the forming of an alliance with the parent, academic interventions, and the collaboration between the therapist and the school counselor/social-emotional skills group facilitator over the duration of the case. Interactive exercises will be included several times throughout the presentation.

3. Open Art Studio sponsored by the Northern California Regional Sandplay Society (NCRSS)

• 7:00-9:30  SATURDAY EVENING BANQUET AND KEYNOTE

The Multi-Sensory Nature of Sandplay and Active Imagination
   Joan Chodorow, PhD, BC-DMT, JA  Level: All
   Sandplay and active imagination are multisensory integrative experiences, guided by the inner-directed symbolic attitude that is at the core of psychological development. This presentation invites multisensory awareness through story, visualization, and the living, moving body. It includes work with collective trauma and healing images and experiences in different part of the world.
• 7:00-8:00am Tai Chi/Moving Meditation with Parker Linekin
• 8:30-9:00am Refreshments

• 9:00am-10:30am MORNING 1.5-HOUR WORKSHOPS

1. A House For Me: Separation, Individuation and Emergence of the Self in the Sandplay Therapy of a 7-Year Old Boy Level: All

   Susan Calfee, PhD, MFT, JA

   Against the backdrop of the image of the house, this sandplay case presentation will illustrate the constellation of the Self in a delayed separation and individuation process. The presenter will share archetypal manifestations of the house image, and will lay out a sandplay story revealed over an 18-month period of sandplay therapy with a 7-year-old boy.

2. Mentoring Session: Writing Preliminary Papers and the Final Case Study Level: All

   Maria Chiaia, PhD, JA, CST-T & Audrey Punnett, PhD, RPT-S, JA, CST-T

   This session will cover: (1) steps in selecting a subject for the preliminary papers, deciding on a final case, and identifying an advisor and readers; (2) criteria for papers and case study; and (3) approval process.

3. Complex Resolution Through Sandplay Level: I/A

   Donna Johnson, LCSW, ATR-BC, CST-T

   Jungian psychology is often called “complex psychology” due to a movement toward wholeness through the resolution of complexes. This case presents a man with a presenting problem of social anxiety. Through sandplay therapy this puer man was able to resolve his core complex with its archetypal roots in Hephaestus.

4. Black Swan Dreaming and Sandplay Level: All

   Heather Lesley-Swan, Grad Dip Couns, M appPsychth

   This presentation on the iconic Australian symbol of the Black Swan will enhance cross-cultural appreciation of symbolic meaning in the discovery and recovery of Self. The Black Swan as a powerful and active symbol in modern society will be directly linked to clinical sandplay practice as well as contemporary neuroscientific research.
SUNDAY, JUNE 3 (continued)

5. Being in the Participation Mystique: Sandplay Therapy for an Autistic Youth
   Sachiko Taki-Reece, EdD, MFT, JA, CST-T  Level: I/A
   Working with an 18-year-old autistic youth with sandplay, the therapist realized she was drawn into the state of participation mystique, a literal “return to the Self,” to make contact with his psyche. The presentation includes highlights of his individuation process, from being in a cocoon to moving across a threshold into a new world.

- 11:00am-12:00noon  CONFERENCE CLOSING SESSION

Integration, Reflection & Return  Level: All
   Regina Driscoll, PhD, CST-T; Ellen Searle LeBel, MFT, BC-DMT, CST Candidate; Liza Ravitz, PhD, JA, CST-T; Ellen Saul, MS, LP, CST-T; Laura Soble, MFT, REAT, CST
   After a deep encounter with the Self, how do clinicians and clients hold that feeling, image, and experience internally? Our closing community session will include a lively interactive experience to review, remember, and explore this question theoretically, personally and collectively.

- 1:00pm- 3:30pm  OPTIONAL EXCURSION

Fabulous Post-Conference Celebration Cruise and Lunch on the San Francisco Bay

Join friends and relax after the conference as our private cruise leaves the marina at the Berkeley Doubletree Hotel, taking in views of the Francisco Bay, the Golden Gate Bridge and Alcatraz. In order for STA to properly prepare for the conference, attendees are asked to register by April 15, 2012 for all conference sessions and activities. Breakout sessions are size-limited, so register early to get your first choices.

If your plans change and you are unable to attend, please cancel in writing on or before April 30, 2012.
Cancellations after April 30, 2012 will not be refunded.
Refunds will not be given for no-shows.

All cancellations subject to $100 processing fee. Please submit cancellation requests in writing to:
STA, PO Box 4847, Walnut Creek, CA 94586
or email: STA@sandplay.org
